Defense Declares Man Lost Job, Was Mentioned in Trial

Editor of Daily Worker Says John S. Kelliher Was Let Go at Factory

New York, June 14 (AP)—The defense in the Communist conspiracy trial charged today that a Chicago man had lost his job because he was mentioned by a government undercover witness in the trial.

John Gates, editor of the Communist Daily Worker and first defendant to testify, said in a statement that John S. Kelliher had been fired at the Stewart-Warner plant in Chicago.

Kelliher, president of Local 1154 of the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers, was named by Garfield Heron of Little Rock, Ark., an F.B.I. informant who testified for the prosecution in April.

Heron told of Communist activities at the Douglas Aircraft and Stewart-Warner plants in the Chicago area. He formerly worked at both places. He said a meeting of a Communist club composed of Stewart-Warner workers was held in Kelliher's home.

"This brazen disclosure is complete vindication of my refusal to name rank-and-file workers in my testimony," Gates declared.

The editor was sentenced to 30 days in jail for contempt by Federal Judge Harold R. Medina June 4 after he had refused to answer a prosecution question about his party associates. He consistently balked at such questions.

Gates, questioned on re-direct examination by his attorney, testified his party teaches that the forces of peace are strong enough to prevent an "imperialist war."

He denied again that American Communists had instructed their followers to foment civil war in the United States if the country embarked on an "imperialist war."

If war should come, however, the editor said his party would try "to bring that war to an end and by building up an anti-war peace or."

Mother of Four, 28, Stabbed to Death

Husband Says He Found Another Man in House; Faces Charge

Geneva, N. Y., June 14 (AP)—A 28 year old mother was stabbed to death today and police said her husband admitted slaying her after he found another man in the house when he came home unexpectedly.

District Attorney Thomas C. Croucher of Ontario county said Bernard Leo Hart, 29, a railroad brakeman, had been charged with first degree murder and would be arraigned later today.

Croucher said Hart had admitted stabbing his wife, Jane, mother of four children, with a kitchen knife.

Police Chief Daniel Murphy said James A. Loney, 33, was being held for investigation.

The slain woman was found in the living room of the Hart home by a physician summoned by Hart after the stabbing. She had been struck a glancing blow in the shoulder and neck. The knife lay alongside the body. The children were asleep upstairs.

Murphy said Hart told police he had been scheduled to work last night but returned home intending about 1 a. m. (E.S.T.), cut open a door screen, crept upstairs and found his wife in bed with a man unknown to him.

Murphy said Hart went to the kitchen, got a knife and was intercepted by his wife in the living room where the stabbing occurred. The second man fled.

Creation of Soft Coal Industry 'Czar' Is Reported to Find Favor With Industrialists and Lewis, to Provide Permanent Stability

Pittsburgh, June 14 (AP)—Pickets patrolled the nation's coal fields today, forcing some non-union mines to close as the "stabilization holiday" entered the second day.

John L. Lewis ordered the walkout of the 480,000 soft and hard coal miners. He said it was in their interest.

Meantime, Lewis, with one contract session over headed for another. His lieutenants are slated to resume negotiations today with southern bituminous mine operators at Bluefield, W. Va.

The bushy-browed chieftain of the powerful United Mine Workers Union met briefly yesterday in Philadelphia with U. S. Steel Corporation representatives.

Publicly nothing was announced. Lewis said only that he had agreed to meet again June 23 with Harry Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., coal-producing subsidiary of the steel firm.

Lewis, as usual, scowled, smiled, laughed and ignored newsmen's questions. He declined to say anything except "hello" and "good-bye."

(The New York Times said today that Lewis and a vast segment of the northern coal industry are in agreement on creation of an industry "czar.")

(The "Czar" said the Times story would aid in the "permanent stabilization" of the bituminous coal industry. It added that the southern coal producers are "dead set against" the idea.)

(The dispatch added that "secret negotiations, which are almost completed, indicate that the industry 'coordinator' would be Harry M. Moses.")

(Moses was not immediately available for comment. Other industry officials also could not be reached.)

(The U.M.W. contract with the soft coal operators expires June 30. If no new pact is reached, the miners' strike. Traditionally their policy is: No contract, no work.)

Actually the Lewis men have only one work week left in June. They get a 10-day vacation with pay starting June 26.

Several hundred pickets are patrolling the mine fields in an effort to convince non-union workers that it's a good idea to stay out of the pits this week.

There's been a little violence in West Virginia and Alabama. Pickets blocked U. S. Route 19 near Clarksburg, W. Va., and upset several trucks. Officials decided to "cease operations" at the Wilsonburg Tipples, a strip mine.

Los Angeles Says Publicity Men to Guard Bride; Tallahassee Shows Annoyance

Los Angeles, June 14 (AP)—There will be no cheesecake photos taken of Florida's first lady-to-be.

Governor Fuller Warren of Florida has hired two Hollywood publicity men to see that Barbara Manning, his 24-year-old bride-elect, is not shown in bathing suit, tennis shorts or other cheesecake photos.

Warren, 43, also has banned pictures of the pretty Los Angeles girl making up at her bedroom mirror or wearing a kitchen apron.

Eisenhower Assails Aid For Schools

Some Lawmakers Think General Will Make His Political Weight Factor

'Test' Suggested

Eisenhower Might Be Feeling Way for '52, Is Viewpoint

Washington, June 14 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appeared today to have gone a long way toward torpedoing one of President Truman's "must" bills before Congress—federal aid to education.

A critical letter by the general, now president of Columbia University and acting chairman of the military chiefs of staff, plunged school aid advocates into gloom. It started talk among some lawmakers about the possibility that Eisenhower intends to make his political weight felt.

In a letter to Rep. Gwinn (R-N. Y.), Eisenhower opposed federal school aid grants to all of the states, a proposal already approved by the Senate and now pending in a House labor subcommittee.

He said he favors helping only states that can't raise enough taxes to support a high level of education and then only "under formulas that would permit no abuse, no direct interference of the federal authority in education processes and no opportunity to expand the flow of federal money into areas where need could not be clearly demonstrated."

Some lawmakers thought Eisenhower paralleled Republican doctrine when he went on to assert that "the army of persons who urge greater and greater centralization of authority and greater and greater dependence upon the federal treasury are really more dangerous to our form of government than any external threat that can possibly be accorded against us."

Those views didn't seem to track with the policy of some of the leaders of the organization Americans for Democratic Action who tried so vigorously—and failed—last year to get the general into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Eisenhower thus, lined up against a bill that has the support of both President Truman and Senator Taft (R-Ohio). In the same political camp with Sen. Wherry of Nebraska, the G.O. floor leader, and House Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts.

The House Labor Committee, a ready snarled up with labor, minimum wage and fair employment practice bills, seemed likely to give Eisenhower's views more than ordinary weight.

The circumstances were such as to lend credence to the view that he may be doing a little advance testing of the 1952 temperature, although Eisenhower as president of the country's biggest teacher-producing university was in his own field when he talked about education.

As top Republican on a House labor subcommittee, Gwinn wrote for Eisenhower's view.

Eisenhower replied that if Gwinn were stuck in the marshalling yards, the strikers control the switches and man the signal towers. They have torn up strategic rails and cut telegraph wires.

The west Berlin railway men, numbering about 14,000, walked out May 21 with demands that the Russian-controlled railway management pay them in west marks instead of the east marks used previously to pay wages. The east marks are worth about one-fourth the west variety.

The strikers also demanded that the management recognize the anti-Communist U.G.O. union as their bargaining agent and pledge job security. They rejected compromise offers for payment of part of their wages in west marks.

The terms the strikers were voting on today were worked out by the United States in consultation with the west variety.

Some 40 trains are stranded at the gates of Berlin and 2,000 cars are stuck in the marshalling yards. The strikers control the switches and man the signal towers. They have torn up strategic rails and cut telegraph wires.

Chief Inspects Damage of City's Second Serious Fire

Kingston's second serious fire within a week, was also the second in shortly more than a week in the building housing the Central Recreation Bowling Alley on Railroad Avenue. The other, a basement fire, was checked before it caused serious damage but the fire discovered shortly after 10 p. m. Monday badly damaged the building. Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and two firemen are shown making a tour of the bowling alley floor after the fire was under control. (Freeman Photo)

Prosecution Offers Cryptic Message In Alger Hiss Case

Record Branch Chief Says Item Was Transmitted in 1938 in 'Gray Code'

New York, June 14 (AP)—The prosecution in the Alger Hiss perjury trial today introduced into evidence a cryptic confidential State Department message from Moscow.

Walter H. Anderson, State Department record branch chief and the government's 28th witness, testified the message was transmitted January 28 1938, partly in very confidential code and partly in "gray code."

The latter designation signified that it one part of the message left the department "it should be closely paraphrased."

At the time the message was sent Hiss was assistant to assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Sayre.

Ex-Communist Spy Ring Courier Whitaker Chambers accused Hiss of giving him copies of secret State Department documents which he passed along to Soviet agents.

Significance of the message was not immediately made clear.

The message read: "M28 tel from Mary Martin widow of Hugh Martin formerly employed for special work by legation at Riga. Remember well Rubens while working for Hugh. Be strict if needed. Write Library of Congress law division."

Anderson indicated a section of the message, including "Remember Rubens" was in the "gray code." He said that code indicated a precaution that if the information went beyond the department it should be closely paraphrased.

Anderson was the first of a final half-dozen witnesses the government ushered into the trial.

These witnesses—who may finish the government's case by Thursday—follow Whitaker Chambers' wife, who became confused about vital dates and places yesterday.

Mrs. Esther Chambers, an important government witness, wrestled with her memory under a five-hour defense cross-examination.

The 110-pound Maryland housewife altered several points in testimony she previously had given in support of her husband's accusations against Hiss, former high-ranking State Department official.

Council Asks Rule On Two Big Issues

Foreign Ministers Near Conclusion of Talks at Paris

Paris, June 14 (AP)—The Foreign Ministers Council, reported nearing the end of its Paris session, sought a conclusive decision today on east-west trade in Germany and an Austrian independence treaty.

Economic experts of the four occupying powers in Berlin, yesterday handed to the foreign ministers the east-west deadlock in the German capital. A western expert in Berlin said the report to Paris showed about 90 per cent agreement on small matters and 100 per cent disagreement on the important issues.

The foreign ministers themselves were reported in partial agreement on a truce in the Berlin difficulties. This appeared to have grown out of secret Big Four negotiations.

Yet, the foreign ministers faced a showdown in their efforts to write a more complete economic agreement for Berlin and an independence treaty for Austria.

The Foreign Ministers Council is scheduled to reconvene at 3:30 p. m. (9:30 E.S.T.) to take up two items discussed in a secret session Sunday night. According to well-informed circles, these items were:

1. Limited commercial accord for Germany which would promote east-west trade, fix an exchange rate for the west mark and the Soviet zone mark, and assure western powers of transportation access to the city.

2. A treaty for Austria which would mean evacuation of occupation troops in the near future.

The sum of $1,200,000 was earmarked for the near future.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 14 (AP)—City governments are being "torn apart" into departmental "kingdoms," the State Conference of Mayors was warned yesterday.

Letter From Cohen Says Aldermanic Approval Is Necessary

Funds for a local housing project will be available from the state only until July 15, said a letter received today by Arthur A. Davis, Jr., head of the Kingston Housing Authority, from Attorney Herman Cohen of the New York State Division of Housing.

The letter also stresses that Common Council approval of a project is necessary, and that unless Kingston acts within the deadline, it will be forced to wait until next year for possible further consideration of a housing program.

The letter in full follows:

June 13, 1949
Honorable Arthur A. Davis, Jr., Chairman
Kingston Housing Authority
City Hall
Kingston, New York

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This is in reply to your letter of June 8, 1949, in which you advised of the action of the Kingston Common Council on the proposed State-aided public housing project for your City, and ask several questions in relation to the proposal contained in a resolution adopted by the Council that the question of approving this application be submitted to a referendum to be held on November 8, 1949.

The sum of $1,200,000 was earmarked for the near future.

These groups go over the heads of city councils to obtain state action on their salaries, hours of work and retirement benefits. Thus, the city councils lose control of a large portion of their city budget.

He urged the conference to develop a consistent policy to coordinate city governmental services.

Charters contended that what he called a trend toward "independent authorities" was developing to a point where "the city government no longer will be able to function."

Police Quiz Several at City Hall

Second 2-Alarm Blaze in Week Destroys Much Equipment in Central Recs

Murphy Suspects

City Chief Says Flash Nature of Fire Causes Suspicion

A spectacular blaze ruined most of the roof and destroyed much of the equipment in the Central Recreation bowling alleys at 19 Railroad Avenue last night.

Flames were shooting out of the top story windows on the arrival of the fire department and could be seen from several blocks away. Heavy smoke which was blown toward the north section of the city engulfed the Smith Avenue area as far away as Albany Avenue, residents reported.

A second alarm was ordered by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy immediately after his arrival. All off-duty firemen and policemen were summoned and every available piece of fire fighting apparatus was either at the fire or was ordered to service for covering other sections of the city.

Will Call Expert

The fire, which was of the flash type, was definitely of a "suspicious nature," Fire Chief Murphy said today. He revealed that an investigation is underway and that the department has requested Captain Edward Curran of the State Insurance Division, an incendiary expert, to assist in determining the cause.

A 24-hour guard consisting of one policeman and one fireman was placed on the building and no one was allowed inside today, pending the further investigation.

Police rounded up a number of witnesses and possible suspects whom they brought to police headquarters for questioning which lasted until 6:30 a. m. today, Chief Murphy said. No arrests were made and the names of those questioned were not revealed.

Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren ordered every available patrolman and officer to duty during the fire and at one time about 30 policemen were in action. Police Captain William T. Roedel took charge at the scene of the fire.

Flash Fire Type

The fire was of a suspicious nature because of its type—a flash fire which involved the entire second floor within a matter of seconds—and because of the fact that it is the second recent fire at that building, Chief Murphy said.

The first fire broke out in the basement of the Central Recreation building about 12:30 a. m. Monday, June 6, but was extinguished before extensive damage was done, the fire department reported.

Last night's fire was reported by telephone at 10:12 p. m., followed one minute later by a bell alarm from Box 1121 at Greenkill Avenue and Broadway, which brought out equipment from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the A. H. Wicks and Excelsior volunteer companies.

Orders Second Alarm

Fire Chief Murphy took charge of his department and ordered the second alarm sounded at 10:15 p. m., bringing out Cornell station, Union, Rapid and Corbitt companies and all off-duty paid firemen. Several of the volunteer companies were ordered to the scene.

Lila Jones Rites At Aunt's Home

Funeral services for Lila Jones, 11, of Diamond Hill road, town of Hyde Park, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the home of her aunt, Mrs. James McElroy, Wurtsville, New Paltz.

The Rev. Lee Ball, pastor of the New Paltz Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in New Paltz Rural Cemetery.

Mrs. Jones, the daughter of Arthur Jones and Mrs. John Byers, was the victim of a tragic drowning Monday morning while trying to catch a frog in an open well near her home. The youngster toppled into the water and drowned.

Heroic work of Under Sheriff Crapner, Deputy Sheriff Kain and the Arlington Fire Department first aid workers, figured in the recovery of the body and subsequent application of first aid methods which for a time appeared to be meeting with success.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at Vassar Hospital and County Medical Examiner Powell of Dutchess county was notified.

Deputy Sheriff Kain, who recovered the body in eight feet of water, had a narrow escape himself, it was said.

According to Sheriff Close, the child's mother was in Poughkeepsie with a younger son at about 10 o'clock. She had left another daughter, Lucy, 13, to take care of other children in her absence.

Lila was playing in the yard of the Byers when her sister saw her as she leaned over the open well and tried to catch a frog. The sister ran to the well and saw her struggling and then raced to the home of Mrs. Joseph Budani, who reported the accident to the authorities.

Besides her parents, Anthony Jones and Mrs. John Byers, she leaves two brothers, John and Arthur J. Jones, and three sisters, Lucy, who witnessed the tragedy, Alice and Charlotte; also a stepbrother, John Byers Jr.

The first locomotive built in America for actual commercial service was "The Best Friend of Charleston," which made its first trip in 1831. On the first run, the engine fell into a ditch but held the rails on later attempts.

Slight Crowd Attends Dance

An entertainment, rated as "outstanding" by several observers, was presented at the municipal auditorium to an audience, estimated at about 200, at the dance Monday night sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the benefit of the two families made homeless by the fire in the Ann street section of the city last week.

In addition to the acts announced previously, Earl Terwilliger, area man who is known in entertainment circles as Earl Jerris, appeared by courtesy of The Barn and was well received by those present.

Acts by the Cashin School of Dime, which drew favorable comment, these included an acrobatic specialty by Ray Gadd, hula dance by Sandra Mackey who was accompanied with vocals by Lee Barnett, an acrobatic agility number by Betty Bunco and Kathleen Mehm and a rhythm tap by Betty Ann Merritt and Joan Walsh.

Vocal selections were by Bill Livingston, "Mr. Song of 1949," and a three-piece novelty band from Port Ewen consisting of William Murray, Charles Lesley and Herb Tholl, provided the comedy for the evening.

Music for dancing was by a 15-piece band of members of the Musicians' Protective Union local and received favorable comment from those attending as well as from committee members.

The dance will realize about $70, which will be turned over to those who lost their possessions in the two-alarm fire last Tuesday. Officers of the sponsoring Joyce-Schrick Post, V.F.W., said today.

City Judge Raymond Mino, chairman of the dance, gave a brief address, during the dance and thanked those who attended.

The small attendance was attributed to the hot weather and to the lack of advance ticket sales and preparations. Admission was by donation at the door.

Navy Now Has No Waiting List

A recently announced increase in quotas has ended waiting lists in U. S. Navy recruiting, the Navy Recruiting Service, central post office building, said today.

The only waiting time now required, the report said, is that for processing of enlistment papers, and this normally takes about three weeks.

Many programs on trade training for the navy are now in effect, it was announced, and one of interest to high school graduates is the "High School Graduate Training Program." This guarantees the training described in advance of enlistment.

The Navy offers training in Music, Electronics, Photography, Radar, Journalism and many other fields.

Any one desiring further information on the U. S. Navy and the qualifications for enlisting may call Kingston 3272 or visit Room 209 in the Central Post Office on Wednesday and Thursday between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Prosecution Offers

On one of the two perjury charges against Hiss—that he lied when he told a Federal Grand Jury he never saw Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937, until the current espionage investigations started.

The other perjury indictment is based on Hiss' denial before the grand jury that he furnished Chambers with secret government information to be passed on to the alleged spy ring.

Mrs. Chambers testified at times against Hiss, a veteran trial lawyer, who has called her husband "a liar, a perjurer and a moral leper." She called her husband, the government's star witness, "a decent citizen and a great man."

Chambers, who has said Hiss and his wife, Priscilla, were Communists, claims to have broken with the Communist Party in 1938.

Mrs. Chambers' principal confusion yesterday was over when and where she last saw Hiss.

New York Band To March Here

The New York City Fire Department Band of 80 pieces will be an attraction here for the convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association next month, it was announced today.

A special committee made a trip to New York to make arrangements for the band's appearance here and Peter Koresman, general chairman, said at a meeting Monday night that only a few details are to be completed.

Plans call for a free public concert at some central location Friday night, July 29. It will lead the parade Saturday afternoon, July 30. This will be the first time this great musical aggregation will appear at such a distance from New York city.

The general committee believes that this feature will attract many more visitors to Kingston for the firemen's convention and help make it a successful convention.

Other plans are progressing for the convention, Koresman said, and early indications are that more firemen than users appear here and Peter Koresman, general chairman, said at a meeting Monday night that only a few details are to be completed.

$400,000 Damage Caused at Bridgeton

Bridgeton, N. J., June 14 (AP)—The entire downtown section of Bridgeton was threatened by fire today as flames destroyed an 86-year-old theatrical landmark, causing damage estimated at $400,000.

Companies from six nearby communities fought the fire which was detected by K. L. Lenker, a switchboard operator at the Bell Telephone Company exchange. The board signal to a candy shop located in the Critteron Theatre building.

The entire three-story theatre building was enveloped in a roaring inferno menacing other business places, including the Farmers and Merchants National Bank. The bank had smoke damage.

In two hours, only the walls of the theatre and two stores remained standing.

The damage may reach a half million dollars, according to Milton Marler, manager of the theatre, owned by David Borrist of Philadelphia.

Fire Chief John Pagnese said the flames started in the Bluebird Sweet Shop, next to the theatre lobby.

West Is Blamed

Moscow, June 14 (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass, in a dispatch from Paris, today pictured western foreign ministers as seeking to prolong the occupation of Germany indefinitely. The dispatch from the Council of Foreign Ministers said British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and American Secretary of State Dean Acheson were aggravated because Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky had so "convincingly demonstrated" efforts of the western ministers to occupy Germany for a long time.

Apartment-House Movies

Moscow (AP)—Apartment houses with a movie theatre on the first floor have been started in the city, located on the Mozhaisk Highway, has already opened. An official decision has been made to open 18 of these apartment house movie theatres.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 14 (AP)—A rally in the stock market stalled today before it got very far.

The market got off to a bad start on the heels of yesterday's drop, one of the severest of the year, which carried the general price level to a 4 1/2 year low.

Demand revived, though, after overnight orders had been taken care of and leading issues moved ahead for net gains of fractions to more, than a point.

The advance was short-lived and in some cases gains were pared. A good handful of shares refused to join the rally.

Comparatively fast business developed at the opening. Turnover slowed a bit later although overall activity remained high. An unusually large number of individual issues made an appearance on the ticker tape.

Best showing was made in the steel, motor, railway and oil groups.

Higher prices were paid for Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Western Union, Consolidated Natural Gas, Kennecott Copper, American Smelting, Westinghouse Electric, Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, American Woolen, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Pullman, Illinois Central, Nickel Plate, Gulf Oil, Richfield Oil and Sinclair Oil.

Bally spots included Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, American Can, General Electric, Dow Chemical, and Union Pacific.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. Governments held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

THE RUMINATOR A Column of Contrary Opinion By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

It looks now as if the failure of the Paris conference to work out a beginning toward peace in Europe—a failure which has been expected—is degenerating into a Russian victory.

It is not given to us to know what Russia is up to, but why the western powers have failed to put on the pressure in their dealings with Vishinsky is beyond understanding.

In so far as press reports keep us informed, it appears that Russia is still running the show. As thoughtful observers are now commenting, it would be better to break off discussions abruptly than to listen longer to Russia's fantastic and unworkable ideas regarding Berlin, and her professed interest in east-west trade.

Vishinsky is sparring for time—and for propaganda—if we may guess on Russia's tactics. Russia's only aim, as far as now can be seen, is to gain commercial advantage between east and west, and at the same time to continue her ruthless cold war.

A decisive failure of the conference would clear the air, and would be far better for the future of the world over the long run, than this shilly-shallying about a four-power control over Berlin, for example. As Walter Lippmann points out, it is self-evident that the Soviet position on how to govern Berlin is sheer nonsense. Yet, confronted with "self-evident" unworkable proposals, we learn that instead of bluntly brushing aside Vishinsky's plans, an American proposal is presented by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, which appears equally unworkable.

The crux of tomorrow's peace lies today in Berlin. The western powers have no "legal" entry into Berlin—except by air. If Russia wishes again to clamp on the blockade, this supreme error in "international agreements," a grievous mistake of war-time "friendliness" toward Stalin, must be rectified before any hope of peace in Europe can be expected. This is Problem No. 1.

Why, then, do the three ministers representing the United States, France, and Great Britain, flit with this problem instead of getting down to cases?

To repeat, these "economic" worries are the only plausible excuses for the fumbling at Paris. The surface knowledge which we have at present, it would still appear to be a wiser policy to stand up to Russia than to carry on endless conversations which can only strengthen Russia's hand.

In the meantime, the Congress of the United States is failing utterly to back up this nation's stand with Russia. Preferring "knightly" investigations to a serious consideration of world problems, Capitol Hill is making a mockery of America's leadership in world affairs.

State to End . . .

marked by the Commissioner for a project in the City of Kingston out of funds available under the law for loan and subsidy contracts during this fiscal year. Other communities in the State are seeking to obtain similar loans and subsidies and all funds available during the year are being put up for bid. That purpose will be to end definite commitments by July 15, beyond which date we will not be able to keep available the funds earmarked for Kingston. Therefore, if the loan and subsidy for Kingston are not definitely committed by July 15, any new application will have to be considered along with others for the funds which may be available next year. This will mean that housing for veterans and others of low income in the City of Kingston will not be made available for at least a year. That is very unfortunate, particularly when Kingston needs housing now.

We have not been able to discover any provision of law which authorized a referendum, either permissive or mandatory, in the City of Kingston on this subject. However, the approval of a public housing project would have to be given by the Common Council as required by the Public Housing Law in any event.

Very truly yours,

Pickets Close . . .

forced the closing of a small mine near Birmingham, the mine employs about 15 or 20 men.

U. S. Steel employs only 20,000 miners in its "captive" pits. But in the past, control settlements with "Big Steel" have set the pattern for the coal industry.

An authoritative source who declined to be identified said Moses doesn't want to be the last to settle with Lewis. The source said U. S. Steel is taking the position that the miners should make peace first with the commercial coal producers.

Output of the "captive" mines goes directly to the steel mills that own them. A U. S. Steel spokesman said the current miner "holiday" isn't hurting that firm one bit.

Moses insisted that he met Lewis yesterday at John L's invitation only.

"John asked us to meet with him," Moses told a newsman. "That's the only reason we're here. We want to see what he has to offer. We have no proposal to make."

The "holiday" this week will cost the miners an estimated $20,000,000 in wages. They'll probably get it back however, with a little extra, by working five or six days next week—just before start of their vacation. Prior to the walk-out miners averaged only two or three days work a week.

Lewis said the "holiday" would help balance the supply and demand of coal. He said there's too much coal on hand now.

Rye Bread Sandwiches.

Rye bread or pumpernickel sandwiches are delicious with a filling that features ripe olives, ham and cottage cheese. To make it measure about three-quarters cup of the olives, then cut the large olives in half. Cut the smaller olives into quarters. Cooked ham, three-quarters cup of creamed cottage cheese, and mayonnaise or creamy salad dressing to taste. These amounts will make about one and three-quarters cups of sandwich filling.

Physician Booked On Abortion Count

New York, June 14 (AP)—A Manhattan physician, said by authorities to have made $200,000 a year on illegal abortions, was booked by police early today on a charge of performing a criminal operation.

The defendant, booked as Dr. Nathan Rappaport, was arrested yesterday in a police raid on a six-room suite at 330 West 72nd street, near Riverside Drive.

A spokesman for District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said the suite had peepholes, double doors between rooms and an interoffice communication system, so that anything said in the reception room could be heard in the inner offices.

Raiding detectives found one woman on an operating table and another in the waiting room, the spokesman said.

He said the doctor performed an average of two abortions a day, receiving from $300 to $800 for each. Rappaport had maintained the office suite for at least two years, the spokesman said, and had been watched by detectives for more than two months after a confidential tip to police.

The spokesman said most of the doctor's patients were New Yorkers, but some came from nearby states.

Anglo Dock Strike Ends; Rails in Trouble

London, June 14 (AP)—Britain's month-long waterfront strike ended today but there were signs of new trouble on the state-owned railroads.

Striking stevedores went back to their jobs at Bristol and Avonmouth, ending a walkout that had tied up nearly 100 ships along the west coast.

The men had quit work in protest against being assigned to unload Canadian ships involved in a strike of the Canadian Seaman's Union. Troops finished unloading the last Canadian ship today, and the men went back to their jobs.

In London, meantime, railway executives and union leaders met to map plans for ending the "slowdown" scheduled for July 4.

Workers on London's surface and underground rail lines have threatened to begin a slowdown unless they are granted a ten shilling ($2) a week pay raise. The slowdown, railroad officials said, would choke the rail lines of London, and "may spread to the rest of the country."

The National Union of Railwaymen met today with leaders of a wildcat series of Sunday strikes which has stopped most north-south trains for the past four week-ends. The strikers are engineers and firemen who are protesting overnight stops away from home.

Defense Loses Motion

Washington, June 14 (AP)—The defense lost today—before it even made the request—a motion for a directed verdict acquitting Judith Coplon of espionage charges. The motion was prepared for formal presentation at 1 p. m. (EST), but Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves announced in advance that it would be denied. Defense lawyer Archibald Hanger began discussing his plan to offer the motion as court was about to recess for lunch. He remarked that "Your Honor will deny it and we can go on with the case." "That's exactly right," Judge Reeves replied.

Washington, June 14 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., (D-N.Y.), receives his oath of office today as a member of the House of Representatives. The third son of the late president, to whom he has been compared in political charm, came here from

New York to be sworn in by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) Young. Roosevelt staged a whirlwind campaign to defeat three other opponents May 17 for the seat left vacant by the death of Rep. Sol Bloom (D-N.Y.). Since the special election, in New York city's 20th district, he has been abroad, mainly in Israel.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

A number of readers have asked, if I remember my trip across the ocean. According to my father, I was seen and heard on the boat, but do not remember any of the scenes I caused. We came over on the Hamburg-American Line ship America, second class, which was considered a luxury liner in those days. The passage, covering some eight days, travel cost only $25 for me as I was under two. Adult rates for second class were $50. We left the European city on an open railway to the dock, where the passengers were transferred to a small yacht to take us out to the big liner which could be seen from the dock. My father said, as we approached in the small yacht, some 30 men in uniform welcomed the passengers by striking up vivid martial music. It was a touching note, for many were leaving their homeland never to see their native home or relatives again.

The second class dining room was set up as a first class hotel, with mirrors, heavy drapes, carpets and many courteous waiters in full dress. It seems that our waiter liked children, and as he was serving gravy, steak and potatoes to my parents, he smiled at me. He shouldn't have done it, for I not only smiled back at him, but seems tickled him. Gravy, steak, and all went over us all as he dropped his tray and screamed. The head waiter rushed over to apologize to my father in good German, while my father in his turn apologized to him and the waiter in the little German he knew, as it was entirely my fault. After that the waiter always watched me carefully as he served us. Well no doubt it was a lesson to him, not to trust young ladies even if they were less than two years old. As they were preparing me for bed, they missed the small carrying case which contained my all, and especially my favorite "pacifier." It seems the case went down with the big luggage to the bottom of the boat. My father couldn't say "pacifier" in German, or Latin, so he drew a sketch of it. They all shook their heads sadly, while I screamed. It seems, neither the canteen, the doctor's office nor the pharmacy had a pacifier on board. I made a lot of noise that night in spite of everyone trying to give me everything else to cut my teeth on. Next morning one of the officers took my father through the entire ship to the luggage department, where the small suitcase was by our other belongings. To this day, my father still talks about the wonders of an ocean-jiner which he would have never really seen if that pacifier incident hadn't come up. In the evening, the sailors, who were also waiters during meal time, turned into musicians and played waltz music in the dance lounge. My father talked to some of the men, and they explained, when they were hired they were told the job called for good sailors, gentlemen at all times, know how to serve meals properly, and play an instrument well. The orchestra consisted of some 30 men. My father, a lover of classics and good waltzes, said he could not tear himself away in the evenings as the music was so good. The eight day trip, with the ship staff catering to every comfort would have been perfect except for a two-day heavy storm.

Why Heinz Co. Uses Newspaper Advertising

Pittsburgh, June 13—One of the largest continuous campaigns of national newspaper advertising in the history of the food industry will be launched in the immediate future by H. J. Heinz Company. It was announced here today by H. J. Heinz, II, president.

In a continuous 52-week schedule of large space advertisements, the maker of the famous "57 Varieties" will use 140 daily newspapers in 110 major markets, with special Spring and Fall campaigns covering 300 secondary markets. In addition, four-color advertisements will appear in magazine sections of major Sunday newspapers throughout the country.

"Our decision to use newspaper advertising on an unprecedented scale reflects several factors," Mr. Heinz said. "Foremost is its effectiveness at the local level. Through newspaper advertising we can bring a timely, illustrated selling story on our products directly to the attention of housewives on the very day they are planning their weekly shopping lists. We consider this of major value in promoting immediate business for local food retailers."

"The flexibility which newspaper advertising permits is another major factor. Heinz sells many products. Some are year-round staples. Others are more or less seasonal. Using newspapers, we can advertise different products in different parts of the country at the same time and tie each into our seasonal and sectional requirements."

"We have always been substantial newspaper advertisers. Our past experience, plus current trends in the grocery store field, indicates that the time is ripe for the biggest campaign ever."

Eurich Says State University to Give Help to Others

Alfred, N. Y., June 14 (AP)—The president of the State University of New York says it will not compete with private educational institutions but rather will supplement them.

Dr. Alvin C. Eurich spoke yesterday at Alfred University's 113th commencement.

He said the State University will follow "the American tradition to extend free facilities of education so that youth may learn the elements of democracy."

Some of these, he added, are a sense of perspective so that the student will see himself in relation to the community, nation and world; resourcefulness in which the student will use all the abilities developed by his education, a sense of humor and spiritual and moral values so important in a world torn between two ideologies. Eurich received an honorary degree of doctor of laws from Jesse S. Phillips, Bronxville, vice president of the Great American Insurance Co., received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

The 1,500 graduates and guests at the commencement sat in cool comfort. Packed around the board track in the men's gymnasium were 4,000 pounds of ice. Fans kept the chilled air in motion.

The university board of trustees made permanent the appointment last year of Dr. M. Ellis Drake as president of the university.

Elected to the board were: Dr. Irwin A. Conroe, Altamont, assistant state commissioner of education for professional education; Alfred W. Whitford, Watertown, Pa., businessman; Mrs. Evelyn Tenhynson Openheim of Hartsdale and Gordon D. Phillips of Portville.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 14, 1949

SAFETY SITUATION

Ulster county has an accident rate, which is over fifty per cent higher than the rest of the state, according to an announcement from the office of the safety chairman of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs.

An opportunity to do something about it has been arranged by the local committee, which has scheduled a meeting for Wednesday evening, June 15 at 8 o'clock in the conference room of the Kingston City Laboratory. At this time there will be a discussion on the safety situation and the advisability of forming a safety committee to coordinate the safety activities of the various groups, agencies and interested individuals. Edwinn C. Forsythe of Albany, safety coordinator of the Division of Safety in the state executive department, will be the principal speaker.

Organizations are asked to send representatives to the meeting. If you are interested in safety, here is an opportunity to show it.

WELL DESERVED PRAISE

The high state of efficiency of the Kingston Fire Department again was demonstrated last week when a sweeping conflagration in the downtown section was brought under control in record time.

The work of the police department and the assistance given by the volunteer fire fighters contributed to the results, which were so quickly attained.

Numerous letters have been sent to The Freeman by local residents praising the work of the firemen and the policemen.

AID FOR FIRE VICTIMS

There is great satisfaction in being guided by an unselfish spirit and the determination to help others. Contributions are pouring in to aid the fifteen persons, who lost their homes and most of their possessions in the recent downtown fire.

Mavor Newkirk has named a Fire Aid Committee to receive contributions and to distribute them to meet the needs of the fire victims. The committee is comprised of Mrs. Henry Singer, the Very Rev. Msgr. M. J. Drury and the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick.

This is a very worthy cause, which deserves generous support.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

The Salvation Army has endeared itself to people of every faith because it always serves humanity at the point of need, at the time of need, regardless of class, creed or color.

The Salvation Army stands mobilized 24 hours a day to extend help when this help is required, whether it be clothes to victims of a fire, a roof to the homeless, medical aid to the suffering, food to the hungry or spiritual consolation to the sick at heart.

To those without hope or faith, to those who seemingly are society's outcasts, The Salvation Army is ever a faithful friend, seeking to return value and meaning to life, giving courage to start again, to work again.

These days are days of new beginnings for thousands who are the victims of post-war upheavals and confusion. And once again The Salvation Army is on the march, helping others to help themselves.

Whenever need arises, The Salvation Army does not hesitate. Help this organization to meet future needs by not hesitating when your contribution is asked. Assist The Salvation Army today in their "Mile of Quarters Campaign" for $6,000 in Kingston.

PROCUREMENT

A reader writes me:
"... I direct your attention to a committee investigation in Washington involving the Quartermasters Department" (reported by "Shoes & Leather," ... the official publication covering the leather industry) "who were not able to explain why $41.00 was paid for army overcoats that had a life of four years. Of course, I appreciate that perhaps marine coats may not be as long as army coats but then why the great disparity in price? This publication wanted to know why the army sold shoes at very low prices marked 'surplus' and then reordered the same shoes in large quantity at much more than they sold the 'surplus' at. Have you not seen these shoes retailed by large department stores at around $5.50-6.00 that perhaps were sold by the army at $4.00 to $2.50—shoes that cost the army $5.50 or more—made by the nation's best shoe manufacturers out of top grade leathers?"

This question of procurement grows increasingly important as we have less money to waste. During a war, waste is excusable on the ground that it may save lives. In other words, the military forces have to buy surpluses beyond current necessities because they never know when a war will end, how much effort they will have to employ, what new weapons will be used on one side or the other. Therefore, they buy prodigally and it is justified. At the end of a war, the military forces could stockpile non-perishable commodities. They could also use perishable commodities, such as shoes, to supply the current military forces for a prolonged period. Instead they get rid of what they call surpluses at ridiculous prices, meanwhile buying new supplies, identical to those that are sold. Some commodities are even destroyed—which makes no sense at all.

The Elberstadt Task Force report to the Hoover Commission contains this statement:

"There is a growing belief among responsible officials of government that the Communist strategy in the struggle for the world is to force the United States into greater and greater expenditures of its resources for armaments, for economic aid and support to friendly nations, for Lend-Lease arms to western Europe, for atomic energy development, and for other police-military purposes. Victory by bankruptcy may be the machivellian aim of the Kremlin. Whether or not any such deliberate campaign can be attributed to Moscow, it is absolutely clear that the United States faces in the immediate future no period of calm and ease, no sudden relaxation of tension, but a continuation of recurrent crises—what Toynbee calls a 'time of trouble.' If this be so, the fiscal dangers of tomorrow are clearly visible. Burdens such as we are now bearing, if substantially increased, might become intolerable. The premium upon economy, therefore, becomes higher than ever before in history; it may be said that our national security depends upon it. And nowhere is rigid economy more essential than in the military budget which currently accounts for approximately 30 per cent of our federal expenditures."

The troubles among the army, navy and air force, making uniform difficulties, are largely over the question of procurement. Each service prefers to do its own buying, despite duplications. Furthermore, each service wishes to get as large a share of the total budget as possible, the assumption of each department being that the other is robbing it. And still furthermore, contractors, manufacturers, dealers become active about their products. When, for the sake of economy, a product is not used any longer, the interested parties get congested, men, senators, lobbyists and all sorts of persons to intervene for them. The pressure often becomes so strong that economies become impossible.

One argument that is often used to justify this system is that when times are not so good, military expenditures are an indirect means of making work. This is a fallacy. If the government wants to give someone a handout, it ought to be done directly by subsidy, as we have done with the subsidies for economic and political poison. Certainly procurement can never be on a sound basis, if hidden subsidies for manufacturers or for labor are included.

PRESERVING OUR EMOTIONAL BALANCE

An expert in a certain line of work was sent to a small town to give advice to some factory workers. He noticed that one of the workers was more adept than his fellow workers, and suggested that as he could earn twice the amount in a neighboring city he should leave his present job.

A few weeks later the worker stated that he couldn't, and wouldn't leave his present work to get double the wages because he had been born in the town, so had his wife and parents, and also he would leave all his relatives and friends. He would be unhappy. The city expert couldn't understand anyone turning down employment with such high wages.

Physicians today know, as never before, that it is disturbing close relationships that cause many cases of nervousness, which develop into neuroses.

In both ways it was found that in hundreds of cases of neurosis, the victim has an ailment when no real or organic ailment is present—the soldier, sailor or airman began to have his symptoms during his training in camp, before even proceeding overseas or engaging in combat.

In an address before the Cooper Union Forum in New York some months ago, Dr. Nathan Freeman stated that no one is born a neurotic. It is more our surrounding "culture," our personal environment, which drives us to neurosis. A neurosis begins in disturbances in human relationships. It is a disturbance in the individual's relationship to himself, and in his relations with other human beings.

How can neurosis, obsessions, delusions and other behavior conditions be prevented?

In the armed forces it was found that recruits who had lived too much within themselves, not mixing with others, became neurotic during the training period for service. Those who had played in group games, engaged in group sports, service club activities and nervous symptoms during the training period, and also stood up well in actual combat.

Mixing with others, accepting our responsibilities takes us out of ourselves, and develops the self-confidence we all need to preserve our mental and emotional balance.

This is only reasonable. A lot of old cars are on the road, many of them dangerous to their occupants and to others. The Rhode Island plan should make driving a less hazardous occupation. There is no reason why this plan should be limited to Rhode Island.

It begins to look as if most of the warfare from now on is going to be in the air, but that won't make it any more agreeable.

It Would Simplify Things Considerably

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—Biggest news from the Orient has only been reported so far in the diplomatic cables: it is that the Communist government of Russia and the new Communist government of China are already at each other's throats.

Mao Tse-tung, conquering leader of the Chinese Communists has become bitterly anti-Russian.

Here is the inside story of what happened:

Under the Big Four peace agreement, the key Manchurian city of Dairen was divided between Russia and China. Developed by the Japanese, Dairen stands at the tip-end of the Liaoting Peninsula, also at the terminus of the South Manchurian Railroad, is one of the best seaports in North China.

But when the Nationalist Chinese moved out of their part of Dairen, the Russians promptly moved in. And now that the Communists control all north and central China, Gen. Mao Tse-tung sent word to Russia that he wanted to take over the Chinese half of Dairen.

Whereupon the Russians said no. They said it emphatically and they have refused to budge since. As a result Mao Tse-tung and Chinese Communist leaders are boiling mad. They have come to believe that under the much-vaunted Russian-Communist system, China may not even have as much land as she did under the old-fashioned capitalists.

Barkley's Son-in-Law
Washington's sanctimonious newsman say it shouldn't be written about, merely be buzzed about at "Washington dinner tables." However, one of the political misfortunes of Washington is the manner in which the vice president's son-in-law, Max Truitt, is cashing in on Alben Barkley's fine name.

Truitt is an able, likable law partner of ex-attorney general Homer Cummings. Both get plenty of law practice on their own. However, since his father-in-law became vice president of the United States, Truitt's law business has expanded so the clients almost jostle each other getting inside the door.

In addition, young Truitt is not too selective. On his list are the three chief dictators of the Latin world—Franco of Spain, Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, and indirectly, through the largest Argentine shipping company, Peron of Argentina.

In fairness to the vice president, it should be noted that he is frequently on the opposite side of the fence from his son-in-law. When Truitt was retained by the "Idolands" Oil lobby, Barkley fought on the Senate floor to kill the "Idolands" Oil bill. Also, when Truitt registered as the paid agent of Dictator Franco and lobbied for his full recognition, Barkley was known privately to oppose such recognition.

At White House Dinners
Meanwhile, Truitt gets in on some of the most inner circle parties in Washington—thanks to the fact that his wife is official hostess for the vice president. The White House dinner for Winston Churchill was one of the most exclusive ever thrown by the Trumans. Not even Senators Tom Connally and Arthur Vandenberg, on whom the President must depend for his bipartisan foreign policy, were invited.

But lawyer-lobbyist Max Truitt was.

Ignoring Stars and Stripes
Latest of Max's operations has been to demand that the Maritime Commission permit Standard Oil of New Jersey to transfer six modern oil tankers to the Panamanian flag.

The Maritime Commission has refused to do this for Standard Oil, so Standard then hired the versatile Max. The commission's refusal was based on the fact that oil is getting scarce in this country and, in time of war, the nation's entire economy will depend on having enough tankers to bring in foreign oil. If the tankers are under a foreign flag, however, the United States loses control.

But since operation under the Panamanian flag means less taxes and lower wages, Max Truitt went to bat for Standard Oil. He proposed that Standard Oil register under the Panamanian flag six modern tankers built since 1942, and threatened that if it was not accepted by the Maritime Commission, four tank-ers now building would not be registered under the Stars and Stripes.

"The Standard Oil Company," wrote Truitt, "will have (four) tankers which it desires to place under American flag and registry, to be manned with citizen personnel, provided it is permitted to transfer to Panamanian flag and registry . . . the equivalent carrying capacity of used tankers."

"The company therefore suggests," continued Truitt, "that the commission reconsider its action . . . by which it declined to approve the application to transfer to foreign flag and registry the vessels named above, and desires to point out that . . . (otherwise) this will result in the loss of the newer tankers to the American Merchant Marine and the National Defense Program."

The vice-president's son-in-law used to be general counsel of the Maritime Commission, later was a full-fledged commissioner. Nevertheless, his former colleagues did not relish Max's squeeze play regarding oil tankers.

Pension Predictions
Those interested in higher pensions and more social security benefits can figure that it's a safe prediction Congress will split 50-50 with President Truman on his plea to put 20,000,000 more people on social security rolls. In other words, Congress will cut the figure to 10,000,000.

The 10,000,000 new social security beneficiaries will include self-employed workers (salesmen numbering almost 7,000,000), permanent domestic servants and other smaller employee groups.

On the other hand, Truman's request for inclusion of all types of farm employees, members of the armed services and casual domestic servants will be rejected.

The pension retirement age will be kept at 65 years for men, but dropped to 60 for women. Hottest controversy when the Ways and Means Committee starts voting behind closed doors on Truman's social security reforms will be over his request that minimum pensions for retired workers with dependents be raised from $10 a month to $25 and that maximum pensions be raised from $82.50 to $150.

Insiders believe the minimum $25 pension will be voted, but that the new maximum pension will be closer to $100 than $150. To help finance these benefits, the present aggregate payroll tax of 2 per cent on employer and employee will be raised to 3 per cent (that is, 1 1/2 per cent additional on both employer and employee)—effective January 1, 1950. ## Johnson Has More Troubling Problem Before Him Than Deciding on Building Larger Aircraft Carrier

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 14—Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson has before him for decision a problem bigger in some respects than whether or not to build a new and larger aircraft carrier. That decision really should never have been put up to him in the first place, but now he has something even more perplexing.

For General Bradley of the army and General Vandenberg of the air forces—two of the three members of the joint chiefs of staff—have again voted against the navy and this time have refused to approve the recommendation of Admiral Denfeld, chief of naval operations, that approximately $45,000,000 of money already allocated to the navy by Congress shall be used to modernize existing aircraft carriers.

The United States has an inventory of nearly $2,000,000,000 in carriers that need to have their decks strengthened and certain other improvements made to enable them to catapult their planes faster and to carry their load more efficiently. This would increase their range by 300 miles against attacks from land-based lighter planes and enable the carriers to stay farther away from the shores of the enemy. To refuse to spend $45,000,000 to modernize two other services wish to veto what a third shall do to optimize the whole squabble between the armed services.

Neither General Bradley nor General Vandenberg has ever set foot on an aircraft carrier to watch it operate despite the repeated invitations of the navy to have them go aboard. It is understood that Secretary Johnson has recently persuaded the two generals to do the navy the courtesy of a visit soon.

But this very incident emphasizes what the real problem is. Neither of the generals should be expected to know the technical matters in the navy's operations or needs. It would be absurd to expect Admiral Denfeld to spend his time learning tank operations or artillery maneuvers. The three armed services are each specialized and it takes a lifetime of experience to know any one of them. Merely to exchange officers for a brief period isn't a substitute, though it does help mutual understanding of each other's problems.

It is being said around the Pentagon Building that Secretary Johnson will soon decide the issue of modernization of carriers by approving Admiral Denfeld's recommendation. But it would be most unfortunate if he took upon himself the responsibility of veto over what any one or two or three members of the joint chiefs of staff want to do on any military or technical matter.

The decision which Secretary Johnson ought to make is to send the problem back to the joint chiefs and set out for them a procedure which will make it possible for them to reach a satisfactory conclusion themselves.

First of all, the Key West and Newport agreements which the joint chiefs agreed upon unanimously last year outline specifically the missions and purposes of each armed service. Congress, on the other hand, upon the advice of the President, the director of the budget and the secretary of defense must set a ceiling limit on what each service shall spend. Once a lump sum has been allocated to each service, it should be the duty of each service to determine what weapons it shall use in order to attain the efficiency needed to carry out the missions and purposes outlined in the Key West and Newport agreements.

This does not mean that each service spend all the money it wants nor does it mean useless duplication. The test lies in what is needed to perform a given mission. If the navy, for instance, needs aircraft carriers to maintain control of the seas and to fight submarines by air patrols over a wide range, then the fact that the navy needs an over-the-hill battleship to that used by the artillery or a plane similar to that of the air force should not be of any concern to some other service. In fact, a double-purpose weapon is an even greater advantage to our defense than a single-purpose weapon.

Actually there has been set up a joint evaluation board to appraise the effectiveness of weapons for all three services, but this board has not yet started its operation and may take two or three years to do only a portion of its important work—for it must do a thoroughly scientific job. In the meantime, the joint chiefs should be asked to require each service to be responsible for the efficiency of its weapons—provided it comes within the budget for that service fixed by Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 13—Eleanor Roosevelt has joined the Communists and other approximate defendants in the Hiss perjury case in pre-judging and trying to discredit Whittaker Chambers, the government's principal witness.

Chambers was presented to the public in many early descriptive reports of the trial as an unappetizing fellow in contrast to Alger Hiss, the actual defendant. The Roosevelt woman presently came through with her own lynching piece. Superceding the jury, she would dispose of Chambers as an incredible witness against Felix Frankfurter's protégé who was planted in the State Department and carried to Yalta where the senile Roosevelt, to hastening his prey, gave Christiana Hiss, the wife of the defendant, the big show before a barbarian who despised him still.

It is customary in our journalism to refrain from pre-judging cases which are before the court and while this ignorant woman may not know this, it is unlikely that she would obey the rule even if she did. She is as much on trial herself as Whittaker Chambers is and still she has had the effrontery to write during the trial for publication in New York that she has a feeling that the real defendant is Chambers, not Hiss.

The covert motive for this subversive comment is not far beneath the surface. This woman has been named many times in the past as a member of the Dies and Thomas committees as an associate and aid of Communists and fellow travelers in and about the government. It is obvious that the Hiss trial is a great test case for her, for the Roosevelt myth and for Frankfurter, Judge Jerome Frank, of the Court of Appeals, Dean Acheson, the secretary of state and many other living and dead. It would be to her own great advantage to discredit the principal witness against Frankfurter's plant in the State Department who is accused by Chambers of filching and delivering to Russian spies in a traitorous manner secret information affecting the safety of the United States. She has a particular interest not far removed from the defendant position of the accused Hiss.

Eleanor the Great would reject Chambers as a witness who has now admitted that he spoke falsely under oath. She holds him in contempt for the further reason that he "seems to have no hesitancy about telling various unsavory facts of his private life." Her policy on the importance of truthfulness under oath seems to vary.

In White Plains, N. Y., on January 6, 1947, a hearing was held to determine whether her driver's license should be revoked because of an accident in which she and others were injured. This was a time lag of five months. It was revoked but in time was restored. She could not deign to attend this hearing, having an engagement for lunch, but sent an affidavit. The crux of the matter is the affidavit which was signed and subscribed as a legal document which would suggest that it was made subject to the conditions defining perjury: "I have never had an accident of any kind other than the one in question."

On page 158 of her autobiography, "This Is My Story," published in 1937, Eleanor Roosevelt wrote: "This strange new machine, at Southridge, N. J., she said, 'when on turning into the driveway, I ran into the gate-post. It took some time before the car was repaired. I suppose the average person would have taken this calmly and tried again, but I felt so terrible at having injured something which was so important to me, and at having spoiled everybody else's pleasure that I never again touched a car for many years.'"

This seems to have been about 1908. On page 342 she writes: "I began (making herself a companion of her children) by learning to drive a car. I might as well own up that I had two accidents. I

A mother was having a hard time persuading her 3-year-old daughter that a bath was healthful. Finally, she decided to appeal to the young lady's vanity: "Mother—A daily bath will give you a beautiful figure. Then, noticing the little girl's skeptical look, she questioned: "Mother—Don't you believe me? Little Girl (promptly)—Yes. Only have you taken a good look at a duck lately."

Doctor—And finally, if you drink water freely it will keep you from getting stiff in the joints. Patient—But most joints don't serve water.

His car and her car met head-on. Both drivers got out and, with that fine courtesy so characteristic of motorists nowadays, both began to apologize profusely: "Woman—I'm so sorry. It was all my fault (with gallantry)—Not at all, madam. I was to blame myself."

Woman—But I insist the fault was mine. I was on your side of the road. Man—That may be true; but, my dear madam, I am responsible for the collision. I saw you coming blocks away, and I had ample opportunity to dart down a side street.

Joe—I traveled as a salesman the entire summer, and only received two orders. Sympathetic Friend—Too bad; who gave you those? Joe—Everyone—get out and stay out.

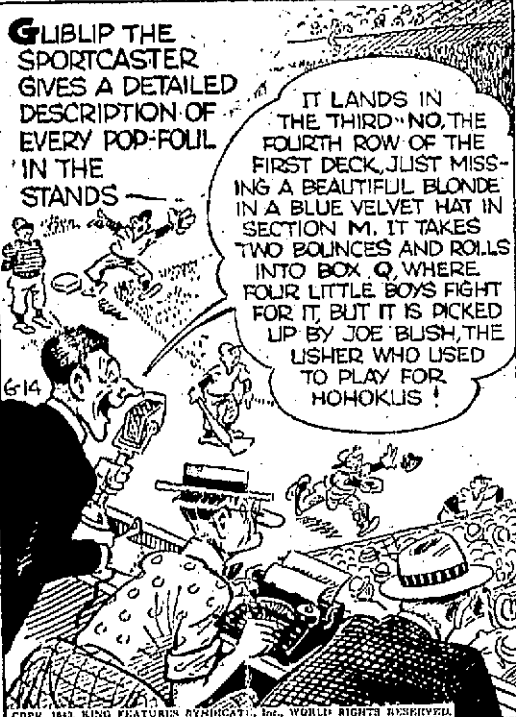

She (on the phone)—I'm afraid your dinner will be burned a little tonight, darling! He—What's the matter. Did they have a fire at the delicatessen?

It definitely pays to look facts in the face. Otherwise you'll get a rear view of them after they have run over you.

Ross Released For Movie Role

Woodstock, June 14—Anthony Ross, who was here for the season as a resident member of the Woodstock Playhouse Company, left for Hollywood, Sunday to play the lead in a Warner Brothers film based on the story of Ladies and Gentlemen which starred Helen Hayes in its Broadway production.

Ross, who was cast for the lead in "Ladies and Gentlemen" which will open the Playhouse season next Tuesday evening, June 21, was released by Michael Linenthal after considerable negotiation with the coast. According to Linenthal, telephone and telegraphic communications during 36 hours were numerous and costly. The release was granted only after Warner Brothers agreed to supply suitable substitutes, subject to Linenthal's approval, to play the roles in the several productions in which Ross was to have appeared during the season. Kurt Katch, well known to moviegoers as the first substitute, arrived here Monday afternoon and will be seen in the opening production as "Uncle Chris." Katch was lauded by the critics for his portrayal of this role in a national tour of the play with Kaidie Christian. He appeared as Aga Khan in the recent Kingston showing of All Bala and the Forty Thieves. Katch was also seen in The Butcher Boy, Watch on the Rhine with Bette Davis, in The Seventh Cross, with Spencer Tracy; Edge of Darkness with Brodell Flynn; Song of Love with Catherine Hepburn; The Conspirators with Hedy Lamarr and numerous other moving picture films.

Katch, a native of Lithuania, was educated in Europe and began his theatre career with Max Reinhardt in Berlin. He has appeared in starring roles in Berlin, Vienna, and Paris, before coming to America. Although he has played numerous Scandinavian roles, he considers "Uncle Chris" the greatest role of his career.

Although the Hollywood offer is the kind of recognition most in actors dream of particularly in this case where Ross will play opposite Ginger Rogers, he was nevertheless, reluctant to leave Woodstock. Anthony Ross became acquainted with Woodstock last summer when he came here to play the role of the father in "All My Sons." He remained for the balance of the season, and appeared in several other productions. His portrayal in "All My Sons" received the acclaim of his audiences. This, too, was true of his other characterizations at the Playhouse.

Mrs. Ross and their one-year-old son, Stephen, flew with Ross to the coast. Preparations for the trip were hurried, but his greatest concern seemed to be for his cat, Barnaby, who has been his mascot for many years. As the moment drew near when the plane would take off, Ross decided against Barnaby's making the trip. Said he, "he might get nervous meeting all the people from Warner Brothers, who would be at the flying field." Barnaby is visiting with friends until his owner returns.

We learned that accompanying the series of telegrams delivered by the local Western Union office were messages of congratulations and good wishes from those in the office.

When asked if this new turn in events meant that the Playhouse was returning to the star system of former years, Linenthal stated emphatically that it did not.

Maverick Group Slated to Arrive

DELPHINA BROWNLEE

Woodstock, June 14—The cast and crew for the Maverick Summer Theatre will arrive in Woodstock this week and immediately go into rehearsal for the opening production "Skylark" by Samson Raphaelson, which will be presented by Tom Reddy Wednesday evening, June 22 and continue through Sunday, June 26.

The color scheme of green and white, established by the Maverick last year, has been carried through in the new interior decor. "As in the past," said Mr. Reddy, "informality and entertainment will be stressed at the Maverick this season."

New members of the theatre company will include William Wilson, Delphina Brownlee, Judy Hollis, Jackie Rigmont, Michael Kree, Frank Leslie, Hal Sultemeyer, Dan Maggon and William Grete. Bennett wrote, "We are moving to 12 Bishop place, New Brunswick, a residence located on the campus of New Brunswick Theological Seminary and Rutgers University, in order to be conveniently located during the completion of my studies at the seminary. During the summer I shall be serving a church in Northern New Jersey, and plan to resume study at the seminary in September."

"We have enjoyed our two years here, and have many regrets at leaving. But for the distance from school, we would be remaining here. And we have enjoyed the fine co-operation you and the Kingston Daily Freeman have given us. May we thank you at this time."

"My successor is the Rev. Charles L. Wharton. He will be here about June 15 or 16, coming from Grove City, Pa. He is married and has two children."

"Thank you again for everything you have done. Very sincerely, Charles Bennett, Jr., Mrs. Bennett and Sharon Rose."

Program Described

Woodstock, June 14—The program of the New York State Historical Society was described in detail by Miss Mary Cunningham, Albany, who was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Woodstock-Historical Society, Saturday evening at the home of Miss Alice Wardwell.

Miss Cunningham, who is the editor of two of the state organization's publications spoke particularly about "Yorker" designed for the junior members of the Historical Society. Through this publication, programs are outlined for the schools and an annual convention planned. "This year," said Miss Cunningham, "over 1,200 young people attended the convention at Cooperstown and were tremendously interested to see the 'Four Corners' typical of an American town 100 years ago." It was learned that through the efforts of the historical society, the history of New York state is now taught in the schools.

Alf Evans, president, presided at the well attended meeting and read a paper which had been compiled from actual letters written from Overlook Mountain House in 1871 by a Kingston woman, spending the summer there, to her husband.

The date for the July meeting will be announced as soon as word is received from the speaker invited for that occasion. The meeting will be held in a High Woods quarry, and the members will have an opportunity to see the operation of quarrying blue stone.

Sewing Club Meets

Woodstock, June 14—The Quaker Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Richard Thibaut Tuesday afternoon for an unusually long session when the members made quilts for the Library Fair to be held Thursday afternoon, July 28.

Jersey Senate Passes Anti-Strike Measure

Trenton, N. J., June 14 (AP)—The bill to restore the New Jersey public utility anti-strike law was halfway through the legislature today.

It passed the Senate yesterday 13-6 over objections of the minority Democrats, and was moved up for final passage in the Assembly tomorrow when both Houses reconvene for the last scheduled meeting of the current special session.

The law to prevent interruptions in utility service was declared unconstitutional by the New Jersey Supreme Court May 26 because it failed to provide standards for compulsory arbitration.

The bill to revive the act by inserting standards added a provision knocking out the law next March 31 in the hope of overhauling the entire statute. Governor Driscoll insisted the legislation be restored while a revision was prepared.

Through the new Palomar telescope, scientists could see a light the size of a candle 40,000 miles away.

So the woman who condemns Chambers for false statements admits that she had had three accidents before the collision in question, which was her fourth motor mishap, the whole comprising an extraordinarily bad record. The fact that the three previous accidents, the first one apparently a real wreck, were not recorded in the public books does not impair their validity as motor accidents.

Trieste, Free Territory, June 14

the parties favoring Trieste's return to Italy a decisive victory in the free city's first election in 27 years.

Tribulation of Sunday's voting gave the pro-Italian candidates 40 of the 60 city council seats. The six pro-Italian parties rolled up 105,973 votes to 61,136 for parties wanting to keep Trieste independent or place it under Yugoslavia. The population of Trieste is mainly Italian and the pro-Italian vote was expected. The free territory was created by the Italian Peace Treaty. It is under United Nations supervision. The 60-man city council will pick a mayor and executive committee. Trieste now is occupied by British and American forces.

Efforts in the U.N. Security Council to name a governor have failed and the U. S., Britain and France now favor giving Trieste to Italy.

Artists' Crafts Make Decorations For Bishop's Altar

Work of two local artists will have a prominent place in the private chapel of Episcopal Bishop George Henry Quarterman, now being completed at Amarillo, Texas.

A cross and a pair of candlesticks, hand carved in oak, have been made by George Huber of Rosendale, retired professional stone carver whose work for St. John's Episcopal Church in this city ranks as some of the finest of its kind in the country. The brass tops for the candlesticks have been made by Mrs. Robert T. Shellenberger, wife of the rector of St. John's and an exceptionally fine metalcraft artist in her own right.

The items were produced for Canon James Green of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York city, who will present them as a gift to Bishop Quarterman, his former classmate.

Did Work at St. John's
Canon Green became acquainted with the work of Mr. Huber while preaching at St. John's Church here a year ago. The local church has been refurbished and beautified during the past seven years and much of the work was done by Mr. Huber, including the seven-foot rood in 14th century Gothic style which is suspended from a beam at the entrance to the chancel.

Other articles done by the Rosendale craftsman include the altar, reredos, sanctuary, pulpit rail, lectern and choir desks at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Shellenberger has always greatly admired Mr. Huber's work and told The Freeman that she considered it an honor to be asked to do the brass top pieces for the candlesticks. She has made a hobby of metal and silver smithing for the past 14 years and has turned out a number of fine pieces of jewelry and other items.

Mrs. Shellenberger is a native of Laurel, Mississippi, and was graduated with a degree in home economics from Battle Creek College, Michigan. She and her husband have been residents of Kingston for six years, coming here from New York where the Rev. Mr. Shellenberger was rector in Trinity Parish for 14 years, which included service in Old Trinity and Old St. Paul Episcopal Churches in downtown New York.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Shellenberger began her metal work as a hobby while she was employed as secretary and office manager to the president of the Save the Children Federation in New York.

Student of Miss Anderson
For the past 12 years, Mrs. Shellenberger has been studying at the Craft Students' League in New York city under Miss Adda Husted-Anderson and Laurits Christen Eichenor.

Mrs. Shellenberger believes a hobby such as hers is a benefit and in her own words she is "continually preaching to people to take up silversmithing as a hobby." She believes most people have many talents which remain hidden and many persons could do really fine work if they would try.

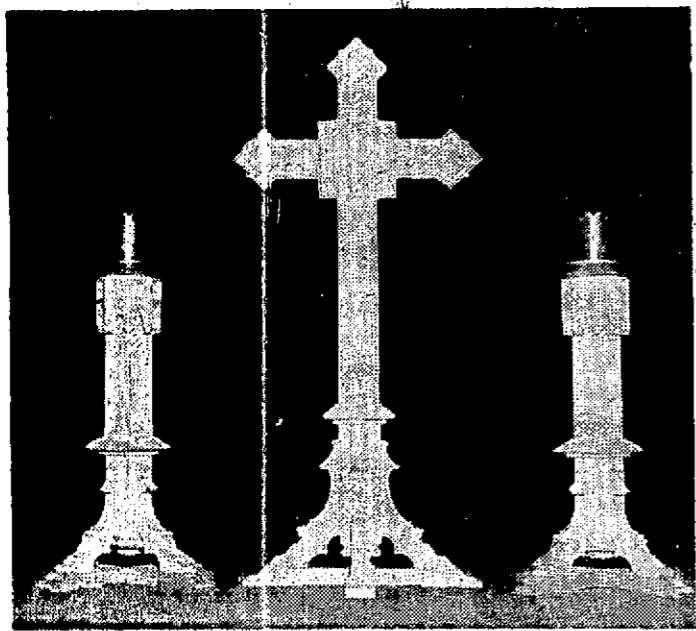

Ready to stand behind her statements, Mrs. Shellenberger teaches others the art of metalcraft working in her kitchen workshop, which she shares with her husband. "Those hobby is photography," she sometimes the kitchen is a workshop, sometimes a dark room and sometimes we prepare food there," she said.

The two hobbies work together well, for the Rev. Mr. Shellenberger has kept a photographic record of the many articles made by his wife.

Did Celebrated Work
George Huber, who did the major portion of the work on the candlesticks, came to this country 48 years ago and for 30 years resided in New York city, working as a stone carver. He has done work on many well known buildings and monuments, including the Niebuhr monument to Francis Scott Key at Baltimore, where the extensive carving on the pedestal is his work. He worked for two years on the Missouri state capitol at Jefferson City, where he was in charge of a force of 35 stone carvers.

He retired and came to Rosendale.

Farmer Is Drowned After Grabbing Bull
Theresa, N. Y., June 14 (AP)—Melvin Calhoun, 37, was drowned yesterday when carried into the Indian river on the horns of a rampaging bull.

The animal swam to safety. Calhoun and two other men were corraling cows in a pasture on his farm near this Jefferson county community. He grabbed the bull by the horns in an attempt to drive it from the pasture, state police said. The bull, with Calhoun still grasping its horns, plunged into the nearby stream and started swimming for the other shore. Calhoun relaxed his grip and sank from sight in midstream, the police said. The body was recovered. Calhoun's companions could not swim. Dr. Harry Drayer said after examination, the bull might have dealt Calhoun a blow while in the water.

Farmer Income Lower

Washington, June 14 (AP)—The net income of farmers in the first half of 1949, is probably running at least 10 per cent below the same period last year, the Department of Agriculture estimated today. Cash receipts from farm operations and probably the gross income of farmers, will be down only about seven per cent. But the experts estimated that farmers' production expenses haven't fallen as fast as their income, so it will leave them less profit. They said the cost of items the farmers have to buy is down only about three per cent.

Theft Puzzles Princeton Officials

Princeton, N. J., June 14 (AP)—The theft of 12 or 15 lead bars, one of them containing dangerously radioactive cobalt, puzzled Princeton University authorities today.

The theft came on top of the disappearance over the week-end of three valuable paintings, worth $11,800 from Princeton's art museum. They are original etchings and drawings by Rembrandt and Degas.

Frederick Osborne of the University public relations staff reported last night that the small lead bars—weighing about 600 pounds in all—were taken from two classrooms in the Palmer physics laboratory.

The lead and radioactive cobalt are valued at only about $150, but Osborne warned that the material is dangerous to anyone within a radius of five feet.

James A. McIntire of Seattle, Wash., noticed the disappearance of the lead bars at noon yesterday, Osborne said. McIntire, a graduate student, had been using them for gamma ray research.

Police are investigating the theft of both the lead bars and the pictures.

Life in Indies Is No Paradise Now; Costs Are at Peak

By KENNETH LIXES

Batavia, Java, June 14 (AP)—An average Dutch housewife here has a cook, a laundress and a house-boy. But don't think she and her family are living in a colonial lap of luxury.

Disorganized politically and economically, Indonesia is far from the paradise for Europeans it was in prewar days. That paradise was lost—for good, most Dutchmen think—when Japanese soldiers overran the archipelago seven years ago.

An estimated 100,000 Hollanders are crammed today into this steamy, tropical city of 1,500,000 persons.

At least 60 per cent of the Dutch families in Batavia live in garages or in single rooms. Housing is so difficult now arrivals aren't allowed to bring their families with them to the Indies.

Batavia's price level for main foodstuffs has leaped to 12 times what it was 10 years ago. The average income, at most, is 300 per cent higher than before the war.

A middle-range salary in the civil service is about 500 guilders monthly, equivalent to $190 U. S. A family man drawing such a salary has to pay out about one-half for food essentials.

The cost of keeping servants takes a much smaller slice of the family income. A household staff with a cook, laundress and house-boy might be as little as 75 guilders ($28 U. S. a month).

Some Things Rationed

In an effort to hold a lid on some prices, the government has issued ration stamps for a few products which can be purchased from special stores at set prices. On this "distribution," as the Dutch call it, are textiles, kerosene, salt, processed milk and locally made cigarettes. Rice and sugar were dropped recently from the list.

Through their offices, government workers and employees of some large firms can buy Dutch gin, biscuits and cheese from the home country at standard prices. Chinese-owned "tokos" (shops) are piled high with canned juices from California, cigarettes from England, canned meat from Australia and butter from New Zealand, slipped in through the back door, but prices in these wide open "black markets" are astronomical enough to stagger the most sturdy Dutch housewife.

Her husband would likely have to work one entire day to pay for a small jar of American pickles or a yard of cotton cloth. Each costs about 12 guilders ($4.50). A quart of Scotch whiskey runs 80 guilders ($30); American cigarettes, 3 guilders ($1.13).

Hollanders here have plenty of leisure time but nothing to do with it, they complain. Gone are the old days when they scurried each week-end to the nearby mountains to escape the oppressive heat of the city.

Transportation out of town is difficult or impossible. Outlying roads aren't considered safe from sniping guerrilla bands.

Besides the general discomforts of living in one of the most drab, dirty cities of the orient, the Dutch here don't know where they stand after almost four years of bitter political bickering and bloody fighting with Indonesian nationalists.

About all they can do is keep assuring themselves the future will be brighter.

But there is too much doubt for comfort.

Careful observers assert that "sorcerers" frequently bring about the death of their victims by "sorcery" when those victims believe in the power of the "sorcerer" to kill.

House Committee Studies Condon Case and Strike

Washington, June 14 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities

Committee is studying (1) whether to reopen the Condon case and (2) whether to investigate a strike of stevedores in Hawaii. The two unrelated matters are on the committee's agenda, and Chairman Wood (D-Ga.) told reporters a vote will be taken on a proposal to probe the Hawaii strike. He would not say who made the proposal. A subcommittee last year referred to Condon as one of the "weakest links" in the nation's chain of atomic security. The full committee took no action on the subcommittee report, and Condon demanded a public hearing. None has been held.

"I believe it is time that we get down to cases and give Dr. Condon an opportunity to appear before our committee," Nixon told reporters. "This thing should be settled once and for all."

Washington, June 14 (AP)—There is "little chance" the $1,130,000, 000 arms-for-Europe program will come before Congress in this session, Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said today. But the veteran lawmaker added he is ready to lead the fight for Senate ratification of the North Atlantic Treaty.

Margaret E. Culver Becomes Bride in Texas Of Wilber S. White, Jr., Dental School Senior

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Margaret Elizabeth Culver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theron L. Culver of Washington avenue, to Wilber S. White, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur S. White of Beaumont, Tex. The marriage took place June 5 in the Robert's Avenue Methodist Church in Beaumont. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. E. McGaughey.

The church was decorated with pink and white gladioli against a background of fern trees and palms interspersed with lighted white tapers.

The bride wore a white satin gown ending in a short train. Her fingertip veil was held with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried an orchid on a white satin ribbon. Miss Callie Trussell of Dallas, the bride's only attendant, wore a gown of pink net and carried a headband of pale blue baby mums and carried a bouquet of blue mums.

Robert L. Robinson, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson, Sr., after which Mr. and Mrs. White left for a trip through Texas and California.

The bride will be at home in Dallas where the bridegroom will complete his senior year at Baylor University Dental College.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and Syracuse University School of Nursing and attended Johns Hopkins Graduate School of Pediatrics. During the war she was stationed at Camp Swift, Tex., and the Brooke General Hospital, San Antonio, Tex. She is now head nurse in Pediatrics, Baylor University Hospital.

The bridegroom is a graduate of LaMar Junior College, San Antonio State College and attended the University of California. During the war he spent four years in the China-Burma-India area of operations. He holds the rank of captain in the army air corps. He is a senior in the School of Dentistry at Baylor University, Dallas, Tex.

COLD VS. PIANO

By
JAMES H. WINTERS

Many people are quite concerned about having to leave their pianos in cold rooms over the winter months. Don't worry about it. The cold will not hurt your piano, in fact it is better for it than the too dry heat we have in most homes during the winter. There is much less of a humidity change from summer to winter in houses that are not heated. We know of quite a few fine pianos that have been left in unheated summer homes every year for over forty years and they are in better condition than pianos of the same age that are in heated homes. It is the changes in humidity, not temperature changes, that affect pianos most.

If you are looking for beauty, tone, fine action and sturdy construction we recommend Wurliitzer. Their patented augmented sounding board is a big improvement over the regular type. Their laminated six post back is the strongest, in fact they are good pianos.

Weidman-Shurter Wedding Takes Place In Phoenicia Church

Shokan, June 14.—The First Baptist Church of Phoenicia was the scene Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Mary Lois Shurter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Shurter of Shokan, to Charles Henry Weidman, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William J. Weidman of Albany. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Milton B. Davis, pastor.

The church was decorated with evergreens, ferns and June flowers. An uncle of the bride, C. E. Cornwell Longyear of Albuquerque, N. Mex., played a preliminary program of organ music and the traditional marches. Robert and John Brethaupt sang accompanied by their sister, Mrs. Vincent Kector. Mr. Longyear, the organist, played the same organ for the marriage of his sister, Mrs. Shurter on October 4, 1905. That ceremony was the first service in the Baptist Church which had just been completed at that time.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white silk net with fingertip veil and coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of Starlight roses.

Miss Ruth L. Shurter of Amarillo, Tex., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow tissue pique gown with coronet of yellow roses and carried yellow roses and delphinium. Suzanne Shurter of Great Neck, L. I., junior bridesmaid, wore a white organza gown over blue slip with coronet of sweetheart roses in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet.

Neison Weidman of this city was best man for his brother, Roger Shurter was junior attendant and others were John P. Shurter of Great Neck, L. I., John Haulbeck of Kingston, and H. Lee Brethaupt of Phoenicia.

The bridal party greeted friends in the rear of the church following the ceremony. A buffet luncheon was served to relatives on the lawn and porches of the Shurter home at Shokan. Mr. and Mrs. Weidman left for a motor trip through the western states. For traveling she chose a turquoise tulle suit with natural accessories and corsage of tulle-man roses.

The bride attended Northfield School for Girls and has been employed as an X-ray technician. Part of her service was in the 147th General Hospital in Honolulu, T. H. Her husband attended Albany High School and served with the 5th Air Force in the South Pacific during the war.

Second Birthday

Port Ewen, June 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Harland Thomas entertained at a birthday party at their home Sunday afternoon in honor of the second birthday of their daughter, Maryann. The table decorations were pink and blue with a birthday cake centerpiece and a small cake with lighted candles at each place. Guests were Bonnie and Barry Merwin, Jo Ann Kelfor, Betty Lou and Peggy Barth, Leslie Browers, John Long, Jr., of Kingston; Geraldine Schwark, Marilyn Burr, Barbara Webster, Betty Anne Thomas of Port Ewen; Mr. and Mrs. John Long, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steltz, Mrs. A. Bowers, Mrs. Peter Koser, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barth from Kingston; Mrs. Clifford L. Winchell, Mrs. Martha Van Vleet and Mrs. Paul Schwark of Port Ewen.

Time Saver

A liquid masking solution based on plastic resins can be brushed around window panes when wood surfaces are to be painted. After the paint is dry, the plastic shield can be peeled off like tape, thus saving time-consuming work of removing excess paint by scraping.

EXCEPTION TO RULE

A mother-in-law to be written: "My future daughter-in-law has no mother and there is no one to give her a wedding reception. This I'd like to give here at our house in the same town, but since it is never the custom for the man's family to give any part of the wedding, could it be questioned?"

Under the circumstances you describe, there is no possible objection to your giving the reception. In fact it is not an at all unheard-of situation and cannot be criticized when the bride has no family of her own. (If she had, this would then be improper.)

Reunion Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: At a high school reunion dinner, some of the couples will be married and some not. Should the married ones be separated at the tables? That is, husbands not seated next to their own wives? Isn't that the proper way?

Answer: According to best social practices, it is always correct to separate husbands and wives. But on this special occasion it might be an advantage to identify each graduate with her own husband or his own wife and for this reason could be permissible.

Emphasize Pronunciation

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been writing my name Evelyn last so people would pronounce my name which is Evelyn, that way. I'd really prefer to write the name as it should be written, as some people think it two names and call me Eve. Is there any way this can be done?

Answer: In my opinion Evelyn is really bad. It might perhaps be most practical to write it Evelyn and underscore the first part this way, Evelyn.

Announcing Son's Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: We'd like to announce my son's engagement in our local papers but don't know how to go about it. The girl's family live in a distant town but she is well known here.

Answer: Although the public announcement should be made first by her family in their papers it is entirely proper (in fact customary) to send a copy of the announcement to your paper. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Negotiations Resume

Oak Ridge, Tenn., June 14 (AP)—Another round of negotiations involving employees of an atomic energy plant was resumed here today. This time Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp., which operates Oak Ridge National Laboratory for the government, is talking contract with the A.F.L. Trades and Labor Council. Last week, and only one minute before a threatened strike deadline, Carbide and the C.I.O. Neither officials of the company nor of the union have disclosed the union's wage demand.

High School Nine Closes Season by Defeating Middletown, 6 to 3

Riehl and Rienzo Triples Set Pace In DUSO Contest

Kingston High School closed a disastrous baseball season on a note of triumph yesterday by defeating the Middletown High School powerhouse, 6 to 3, at municipal stadium.

The Maroons did it by cuffing Herb Schwelckhardt, the DUSO's top hurler, for eight hits and were aided in a couple of spots by untimely Middle bobbles.

Lefty Ted Schwamb was coasting under a 6-0 lead when he collapsed and drew the hook. Bert Kuhn finished the game yielding the three runners already on base but he held the Middle in check in the last two rounds.

Riehl, Rienzo Triple
A pair of lusty triples by Jim Riehl and Mike Rienzo figured in half of the Kingston markers. Riehl unloaded his three-bagger behind singles by Whitaker and Schwamb for a pair of tallies in the second. Rienzo tripled in the third and scored on an outfield error.

Ronnie Schoffel's single and a two-base muff in centerfield produced the final Maroon marker in the fourth. The Burkemen had picked up two in the first on singles by Riehl, Rienzo and Norton and an infield error.

Schwamb fanned the first batter in the fifth but was clipped by a single and then doled out two passes to load the socks. Currier doubled for two and Marcia singled for another but Kuhn was ineffectual after that.

Riehl and Whitaker each had a pair of safeties for Kingston, while the Middle hits were scattered among five players.

Swarthout Blanks Bakers, 3-0; Chez Emile Tied for Second Place

Gill-Shattan Triples Prove Crucial Blows

A slick pitching stint by Bud Swarthout and a pair of collegiate triples combined to give Chez Emile a sparkling 3-0 victory over Stauble's Bakery yesterday in the City League.

The triumph was the third in four starts for Cheezies and put them in a second place tie with Wiltwyck Motors at three wins and a loss each.

Swarthout drew a stout protagonist in Ernie McCormick, the New Paltz flinger, and both yielded only six hits. The difference being that Swarthout doled out six singles while McCormick was clipped for a couple of triples that hurt.

Gill, Shattan Triple
Bob Gill of Rider College delivered a two run triple in the third and Joe Shattan of St. Lawrence University snote one in the seventh. Gill's blast followed in the wake of a pass to Swarthout and George Glaser's single to left with two outs. Bill Glaser's grounder scored Shattan in the seventh.

Those were the only scoring threats offered by either side as the pitchers dominated the game. McCormick walked a pair and fanned five; while Swarthout had six K victims and didn't issue a pass. Bill Glaser with a double and single was the only player with two hits on either side.

Prize Awards

Bob Gill's triple won for him a sport shirt donated by Al Flanagan, while Joe Shattan picked up a sport shirt donated by Mollot's for his three-bagger. Swarthout's shutout was worth $5 in merchandise at Tommy Maines' sporting goods store, the prize offered by Warren Smith of Smith's Advertising Service for the first shut-out each week.

Robinson, Kell Leading Batters

New York, June 14 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, star second baseman of the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers, carried the highest batting average in the National League into St. Louis tonight where the Brooks open a three game series with the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals.

Robinson collected 10 hits in 25 trips to the plate during the week to boost his mark seven points to a pace-setting .349. "The Dodger flash was fourth a week ago. Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner tumbled from the top of the heap to third place. His average dropping from .366 to .339.

Second sacker Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals moved from sixth place to the runner-up slot with .340.

Chicago, June 14 (AP)—Vern George Kell, Detroit third sacker who notched .304 for the Tigers last season, tops American League hitters today with .346—a 21-point bulge over the rest of the field.

Outfielder Dom DiMaggio, of Boston slumped 21 points to .213. DiMaggio trailed Kell by only two points last week. His .315 was good for third place.

Philadelphia's Eddie Joest moved to second with a three point increase to .325.

An Open Letter to Laviano

Mr. Ted Laviano, president, Colonial Baseball Club, Stuyvesant Hotel, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Ted:
The humidity being what it is, I know of many things I would rather do than write a letter in a 90-degree temperature. Like jumping into a lake, for instance.

Like every human being, I have a natural aversion to writing letters. Furthermore, this particular missile causes me a certain amount of anguish and is the kind of communication I would rather file and forget.

But, a glance at the Colonial League standings this morning convinced me that the future of organized baseball in Kingston, and your own financial interest in the promotion, must be hanging by a precarious thread.

Assuming that the Colonials have had more than their share of tough breaks, the fact remains that the club as presently constituted might never emerge from the Colonial League cellar. Not unless you make some drastic changes and make them in a hurry. Kingston baseball fans have not accepted this 1949 edition of Colonials for obvious reasons. Any team that drops nine out of its first 10 games and then is unable to bat even .500 for the rest of the way doesn't stand a ghost of a chance in Kingston, if I may quote Bill Shakespeare.

It is bromidic, I know, to say that Kingston will not support a losing team, but does Kingston have a monopoly on that kind of sports philosophy? Of course not. Every town wants a winner, in the absence of which most towns will settle for a contender or a .500 club. The present Colonials fit into neither category.

Let's put the cards on the table and let the chips fall where they may. The pitching staff is definitely inadequate. Only Frank Demeri and Telit Telelsen will stay above the .500 mark. When you get beyond these two fellows you have Hamilton Graham, who has yet to prove he can go nine innings. Harry Petty isn't the pitcher he was in 1949 and is being lathered freely. You and I know that Danny Rourke is suffering from an elbow ailment and Art White should be in a D league.

Why you insist on carrying Senor Francisco Sostre is a mystery to me. The Senor, a charming gentleman socially, they tell me, has been a terrific flop and you know it. You need a couple of real pitchers badly, Ted, and you had better get them pronto.

Jose Abreu is a good catcher and will outshine John Pluching who had forgotten how to spell the word. The outfield is your strong point of the moment. Danny Perlmutter, Johnny Elenchin and Allen Thomaier will aggregate .300 with the bat and travel country miles to haul down fly balls. Nothing to worry about out there.

Ralph Matzer is making a nice comeback. True, he boots a couple now and then but his spirit seems to have changed for the better. Frank Granato is adequate at first and needs only to smarten up at the dish to be a thorough workman. We think you need a new second baseman and third baseman.

I think the next two weeks will prove crucial in the 1949 destinies of the Colonials. There is a small group of influential fans who are real Colonial rooters and have boosted OB for three years. At the moment they are thoroughly disgusted with the Colonials. I'd hate to see them quit for keeps. They could help you and you may need help desperately in a short time. You can't pretend that the situation is not alarming while the daily attendance hovers around the 275 mark.

The next move would seem to be up to you.

Yours for that finer nine we were to have in forty nine.

Jackson's Homers Win for Ashokan

George Jackson's big bat boomed for a pair of home runs—a grand slam blow which tied the score 8-8 in the seventh—and the game winning circuit in the ninth, as Ashokan edged Lanesville, 9-8, Sunday on the Lanesville diamond.

J. Davis, who pitched three hitless innings in relief, was credited with the victory. Brink homered for Ashokan in the second. "Slim" Personous and Klosterman freely until the seventh when Davis took over. At the end of six they led 8-4. Then came Jackson's grand slam.

B. Smith, who relieved Gale, was the losing pitcher.

Oakley collected three of Ashokan's dozen hits, with W. Jackson, Davis and G. Jackson each getting two. L. Grant led Lanesville with a single and double.

Would Visit Germany
Paris, June 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson is reported considering a trip to Germany to confer with German political leaders. He would be following in the footsteps of former Secretary James F. Byrnes, who made such a trip in 1946 and delivered a major statement on American policy in Germany in an address at Stuttgart, U. S. Military Government officials in Berlin said they had no information about a possible visit to Germany by Acheson.

Flames Make Shambles of Railroad Avenue Alleys

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, who was attending the convention of New York State Fire Chiefs at Syracuse when a fire destroyed several buildings in the Ann street area last week, was on hand to direct firemen in fighting another serious blaze last night. The fire damaged the building housing the Central Recreation Bowling Alley on Railroad Avenue. Shown with the chief, top left to right, are Capt. Edward Albrecht, Deputy Chief George Matthews and Deputy Chief James Brett. Shown below is a general view of the interior of the bowling alley after the fire. (Freeman Photos)

State Incendiary

paid department stations for coverage in case of another fire.

Almost 3,000 feet of hose was laid and the gallons of water poured on the fire caused some water damage to the roller rink on the first floor of the building, the fire department reported.

The fire itself damaged about three-quarters of the roof and destroyed the office at the Railroad Avenue end of the room and the upholstered seats near the alleys.

Whether or not the bowling alleys themselves were damaged has not been determined. They appeared to be undamaged except that the railroad Avenue ends of the alleys were covered with ashes from the roof and may have been charred by falling embers. They will not be cleaned off until the investigation is completed and until that time it will be difficult to determine the damage.

Bowling Balls Fused
Other damage included that to the bowling balls, which were fused together, and to lockers and equipment.

The fire apparently started in the office enclosure on the Railroad Avenue end of the building on the second floor, Chief Murphy said.

The room was left in the condition it was when the fire was declared out, and the few authorized persons allowed inside were given strict orders not to touch anything and were accompanied by a fireman to see that they complied with the orders. These precautions were taken so that the investigation can be made, Chief Murphy indicated.

Chief Murphy said he learned that the alleys were not occupied at the time the fire broke out. John Sangi, owner, Fred Rice and others were at Ferraro's Bowldrome on Cornell Street, from where they saw the fire in the Central Recreation building, the chief said.

The group came on the run to the building, and Rice grabbed an extinguisher and attempted to combat the flames but was driven off by the extreme heat, Chief Murphy said.

Gases Break Windows
By this time gases had accumulated between the ceiling and the roof, causing a flash which broke all the windows on the second floor. Then the fire spread quickly and in a few seconds had involved the entire upper part of the building, the chief said.

Water damage to the stock of the All-State Equipment Corporation store on the first floor of the building was kept at a minimum by the spreading of tarpaulins.

The fire attracted hundreds of spectators and police under the direction of Captain Roedel strung fire lines to hold the crowd back.

Broadway and Greenkill Avenue were a maze of hose lines and all traffic was diverted by police over Smith Avenue or, in the case of southbound through traffic, over Wilbur Avenue.

The flames were brought under control after about one-half hour and the fire was rung out on the alarm system at 11:54 p. m., the fire department reported. One hose line was kept charged and in the building to guard against further outbreak, however, and firemen remained on guard all night.

At 12:04 a. m., while the paid department equipment was still at the bowling alley fire, the sprinkler alarm bell at Standard Furniture Company on Fair Street rang and the A. H. Wicks Engine Company, which was covering the uptown district, was dispatched.

The alarm was caused by a defect in the system and there was no fire, the department reported. Only the bells sounded; the water in the system was not released, firemen said.

U. S. and Britain

To Press Charges

Washington, June 14 (AP)—The United States and Britain are preparing to press charges of treaty violations against three Soviet satellite countries, despite Russia's refusal to take part.

The two western nations had asked Russia to join in investigating accusations that Communist Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania are flouting a 1947 peace treaty pledge to give their people such basic human rights as free speech and fair trial.

Moscow replied with a charge that the United States and Britain are using the treaties to "interfere" in the internal affairs of the three wartime axis countries.

The next western step is provided in the treaties themselves: Creation of three-member consultation committees to settle disputes, with one member named by the secretary of the United Nations, and one each named by the western complainants and by the accused satellites.

The eastern European countries agreed, in signing the treaties, to accept majority decisions of the commissions as "definitive and binding."

If this procedure fails, the United States and Britain presumably are prepared to hand the controversy to the United Nations Assembly, which already has debated it this year.

Plan to End . . .

tion with Britain and France and agreed to by Russia. The western allies have been openly sympathetic to the strikers.

The proposal called for payment of 75 per cent of wages in west marks and no reprisals by the Soviet-controlled railway management against the anti-Red union leaders.

The management would pay 30 per cent of the wages in west marks and the west Berlin government would exchange an additional 15 per cent of the men's salaries in the more valuable currency.

The terms did not mention the union demand for recognition as official bargaining agent for the workers. The management recognizes only the Communist union in the eastern sector and his refused to deal with the independent anti-Communist union.

The Berlin railway system has been under Russian control since 1946, under the provisions of a four-power agreement.

SHOKAN

Shokan, June 14—The pupils of the Brown Station school will hold a fair at the schoolhouse Thursday of this week, beginning at 1:30 p. m. There will be refreshments and articles for sale. The proceeds will be for the children of Europe by way of CARE. The public is invited to join the school children in making the fair a success.

Walter Gilsinger, Wittenberg War 2 veteran, who is employed at Woodstock was a caller in the village center Monday afternoon.

The Rev. Harvey I. Todd's card of thanks (a pleasing custom apparently more popular in the other sections than in Ulster) was duly noted by the reverend gentleman's friends in Shokan where he has preached upon several occasions.

Dominic Todd is well deserving of the numerous eulogisms which have been bestowed upon him lately.

Mrs. John Allen, the former Martha Brown of Shokan, is enjoying good health and attends to her farmhouse duties at the family home in the Spillway neighborhood though well in her eighties.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eltinge and daughter, Lynette, of Philadelphia and Mr. and Mrs. George Verschour of Great Neck, L. I., were numbered among the many guests at the wedding ceremony and reception of Mr. and Mrs. George Weidman last Saturday.

"Us Folks," the Walden Citizen Herald's sparkling gossip column, gives us this one: "Wee! Judy Hunt snoozed in her carriage two-thirds through the Maroon-Black Yank game. She should have stood asleep the other third, too."

Well, that's the way some games are.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peck, Jr., and two children of New York are at the summer home of Mrs. R. B. Peck, Sr., for the season.

Mrs. Emerich Lukacs, received word of the death, Sunday, of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Schwartz of Brooklyn. Funeral services at Cedarhurst, L. I., on Tuesday. Mrs. Schwartz, who is survived by her husband and two children, had visited her Shokan relatives upon a number of occasions in the past.

Syllabus Available
Copies of the new 1949 State Fish and Game syllabus have been received by the county clerk and may be had by hunters and fishermen at the office.

Workers Reject Brewery Proposal

New York, June 14 (AP)—Hope for an immediate end to the city's 75-day-old brewery strike collapsed early today.

Leaders of the C.I.O. United Brewery Workers announced the members had rejected overwhelmingly a compromise settlement reached by negotiators.

Union executives previously had predicted that the membership voting last night would approve the settlement, arrived at Saturday night. A flow of local beer by tomorrow had been expected.

The eleven struck breweries and distributing plants accepted the compromise Sunday.

Despite continuance of the strike, beer from out of town still kept New York supplied.

Paul O'Dwyer, counsel to the United Brewery Workers, said

Charges Hit-and-Run Driver Struck Him

Harold V. Smith, 46, of 88 East Union street, was treated at Kingston Hospital Monday night for injuries to his head, shoulders and right leg which he told police he suffered when struck by a hit-run driver.

Smith called police from his home following the accident, and was taken to the hospital by Patrolmen Walter Van Steenburgh and Thomas Lawyer. He returned to his home following treatment. He told police that he was struck and knocked over the embankment of the section of East Union street known as the "High Road." He was unable to describe the automobile.

French Provincial furniture now can be found in low-priced bedroom and dining pieces.

the union's joint board and leaders of the seven-striking locals would meet later today to discuss future action.

O'Dwyer said he believes the membership rejection was caused by the length of the strike and by what he called management delay in negotiating.

William Greenstein, executive secretary of the joint board, said he believes the 6,700 strikers got wrong impressions about the proposed settlement.

He said he believes they were misled particularly by reports on the matters of a shorter work week for inside employees and on the two-man operation of delivery trucks.

Mother Gives Approval

New Hyde Park, N. Y., June 14 (AP)—An eight-month jail sentence imposed in Germany on an ex-G.I. who wants to be a German citizen is OK with his mother. "I think it will sort of cool him off," Mrs. Catherine F. McCarthy said at her home here yesterday. "He can sit down and think things over—I think this way there will be a possibility of really making up his mind," the mother said.

Mrs. McCarthy made the comment after being informed that her son, Daniel, 22, had received the jail sentence in Frankfurt, for entering the U. S. zone of Germany illegally. The ex-G.I. has said he will appeal the jail term, ordered to be served at Fort Hancock, N. J.

Seeks Citizenship Rights

Newark, N. J., June 14 (AP)—August Klapprott, former German-American Bund leader, makes an appeal today in Federal Court to regain his U. S. citizenship. A pre-trial hearing, designed to shorten the appeal trial, was held yesterday before Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederer, visiting jurist from Detroit. Klapprott was active in the Bund Camp Nordland in Andover and lost his citizenship by default in 1942. He was accused of having falsely renounced his allegiance to Germany in 1933 in order to become a naturalized U. S. citizen.
